Stewart Hall was once a mansion, but it was transformed into a cultural center for the people in Pointe-Claire in 1963. They have different workshops for all ages, as well as music lessons, a library, computer area and a ballroom where they teach dance lessons such as ballet and a art gallery on the third floor.

Different types of workshops and activities held at Stewart Hall including:

Dancing lessons such as ballroom and belly dancing. Art workshops such as contemporary painting, stained glass, pottery etc. There is even workshops for photography and learning how to use Adobe Photoshop. There are other workshops such as cultural immersion in Spanish, latin cardio, yoga stretching, hatha yoga, healthy international meal, etc.

There are music lessons such as for violin and flute..

Stewart Hall is not just a place to take part in workshop and activities, but you can also view the Pointe-Claire village right across the river. Stewart Hall is more than a place for people to learn and enjoy new things, but also to enjoy the outside.
