INTRODUCTION

This lookbook was made with the intention to put into value the act of looking up. We usually look up to observe and admire things; the sky, the birds, the buildings, the mountains, the stars but the problem is that we never acknowledge the importance of the act of viewing things from under. With that in mind, I decided to choose this as my subject as it is familiar to everyone and it seems as if everyone takes it for granted and do not realise how much beauty you can find by just looking up. That being said, I present to you, my lookbook, "Views From Under".
