

Graphic & Web Design department

In GWD you will master the skills you need for a fulfilling career in graphic design and web site design. In three years, you will be thoroughly prepared to join the corporate design world, set up your own freelance design company, or continue your design education at university.

Graphic & Web Design holds the middle ground in between Art and Computer Science. In GWD's web design classes, you will learn HTML and CSS coding, and some PHP and Javascript, which are the languages used for the aesthetic and functional design of front-end web interfaces. You will learn all about color, composition, layout and design, photography, illustration and typography. GWD's front-end design (how it looks) should not be confused with Computer Science's back-end / server-side web development (making it work).

In your final semester in GWD, you will enter the workplace for a challenging three-week fieldwork experience ("stage"), where you will apply your knowledge and skills in an exciting, contemporary, fast-moving corporate design environment. You might even see the work you do during your internship appear in point-of-sale kiosks, signage, local newspapers and on the internet.

Throughout your GWD training, you will learn from enthusiastic teachers who are up-to-date with practical knowledge of the design field, who are well-connected with the local design community, and who bring their real-world design experience into their classrooms. We encourage students to freelance while still in the program and many students graduate with impressive portfolios filled with work done for real-life clients.

Our program is close-knit and you will develop productive collaborative relationships with other students and teachers. Field trips to printers and web design studios, in-school exhibitions, a graduate vernissage, and guest speakers from the corporate world make sure that the Montreal design community is incorporated into the classroom. GWD students study in three labs (3 Mac labs and one mini-studio) equipped with industry-standard software and have access to up-to-date design resources in the John Abbott Library.

If your goal is to enter the design industry after graduation, there is a large pool of employment opportunities on the West Island and downtown that is eager to employ strong design students in both print and web. If your goal is to continue your studies at university, GWD graduates continue to study design at Concordia University, Ryerson, and other exciting universities across Canada and the USA. If your dream is to combine a graphic design education with a university degree in Marketing, Business Administration, Computer Science, or Education; the sky's the limit, as many of our grads can attest.

All images and web site content © John Abbott College Graphic & Web Design department & students, 1999-2020. All rights reserved for published and unpublished works.

Graphic & Web Design department

JACGWD Community Blog & Forums

John Abbott College Graphic & Web Design department

GWD Class of 2019's Vernissage

The Graphic and Web Design Department is proud to announce the GWD Class of 2019's Vernissage. Come join us on Monday April 15th between 12pm and 6pm in the Agnes & John Abbott Library.

All images and web site content © John Abbott College Graphic & Web Design department & students, 1999-2020. All rights reserved for published and unpublished works.

In GWD you will master the skills you need for a fulfilling career in graphic design and web site design. In three years, you will be thoroughly prepared to join the corporate design world, set up your own freelance design company, or continue your design education at university.

Graphic & Web Design holds the middle ground in between Art and Computer Science. In GWD's web design classes, you will learn HTML and CSS coding, and some PHP and Javascript, which are the languages used for the aesthetic and functional design of front-end web interfaces. You will learn all about color, composition, layout and design, photography, illustration and typography. GWD's front-end design (how it looks) should not be confused with Computer Science's back-end / server-side web development (making it work).

In your final semester in GWD, you will enter the workplace for a challenging three-week fieldwork experience ("stage"), where you will apply your knowledge and skills in an exciting, contemporary, fast-moving corporate design environment. You might even see the work you do during your internship appear in point-of-sale kiosks, signage, local newspapers and on the internet.

Throughout your GWD training, you will learn from enthusiastic teachers who are up-to-date with practical knowledge of the design field, who are well-connected with the local design community, and who bring their real-world design experience into their classrooms. We encourage students to freelance while still in the program and many students graduate with impressive portfolios filled with work done for real-life clients.

Our program is close-knit and you will develop productive collaborative relationships with other students and teachers. Field trips to printers and web design studios, in-school exhibitions, a graduate vernissage, and guest speakers from the corporate world make sure that the Montreal design community is incorporated into the classroom. GWD students study in three labs (3 Mac labs and one mini-studio) equipped with industry-standard software and have access to up-to-date design resources in the John Abbott Library.

If your goal is to enter the design industry after graduation, there is a large pool of employment opportunities on the West Island and downtown that is eager to employ strong design students in both print and web. If your goal is to continue your studies at university, GWD graduates continue to study design at Concordia University, Ryerson, and other exciting universities across Canada and the USA. If your dream is to combine a graphic design education with a university degree in Marketing, Business Administration, Computer Science, or Education; the sky's the limit, as many of our grads can attest.

All images and web site content © John Abbott College Graphic & Web Design department & students, 1999-2020. All rights reserved for published and unpublished works.

The Year of Creativity 2020 Graduate Web Portfolios

All images and web site content © John Abbott College Graphic & Web Design department & students, 1999-2020. All rights reserved for published and unpublished works.

John Abbott College Graphic & Web Design department

About the GWD department

For complete information on the Graphic and Web Design program, please visit the program section of the John Abbott website.

Welcome to John Abbott College's Graphic & Web Design departmental page.

In GWD you will master the skills you need for a fulfilling career in graphic design and web site design. In three years, you will be thoroughly prepared to join the corporate design world, set up your own freelance design company, or continue your design education at university.

Graphic & Web Design holds the middle ground in between Art and Computer Science. In GWD's web design classes, you will learn HTML and CSS coding, and some PHP and Javascript, which are the languages used for the aesthetic and functional design of front-end web interfaces. You will learn all about color, composition, layout and design, photography, illustration and typography. GWD's front-end design (how it looks) should not be confused with Computer Science's back-end / server-side web development (making it work).

In your final semester in GWD, you will enter the workplace for a challenging three-week fieldwork experience ("stage"), where you will apply your knowledge and skills in an exciting, contemporary, fast-moving corporate design environment. You might even see the work you do during your internship appear in point-of-sale kiosks, signage, local newspapers and on the internet.

Throughout your GWD training, you will learn from enthusiastic teachers who are up-to-date with practical knowledge of the design field, who are well-connected with the local design community, and who bring their real-world design experience into their classrooms. We encourage students to freelance while still in the program and many students graduate with impressive portfolios filled with work done for real-life clients.

Our program is close-knit and you will develop productive collaborative relationships with other students and teachers. Field trips to printers and web design studios, in-school exhibitions, a graduate vernissage, and guest speakers from the corporate world make sure that the Montreal design community is incorporated into the classroom. GWD students study in three labs (2 Mac labs and one PC lab) equipped with industry-standard software and have access to up-to-date design resources in the John Abbott Library.

If your goal is to enter the design industry after graduation, there is a large pool of employment opportunities on the West Island and downtown that is eager to employ strong design students in both print and web. If your goal is to continue your studies at university, GWD graduates continue to study design at Concordia University, Ryerson, and other exciting universities across Canada and the USA. If your dream is to combine a graphic design education with a university degree in Marketing, Business Administration, Computer Science, or Education; the sky's the limit, as many of our grads can attest.

All images and web site content © John Abbott College Graphic & Web Design department & students, 1999-2020. All rights reserved for published and unpublished works.

John Abbott College Graphic & Web Design department

Privacy Policy

What information do we collect?

We collect information from you when you register on our site, place an order, subscribe to our newsletter or fill out a form. When ordering or registering on our site, as appropriate, you may be asked to enter your: name, e-mail address, mailing address, phone number or credit card information. You may, however, visit our site anonymously.

What do we use your information for?

Any of the information we collect from you may be used in one of the following ways:
To personalize your experience (your information helps us to better respond to your individual needs)
To improve our website (we continually strive to improve our website offerings based on the information and feedback we receive from you)
To improve customer service (your information helps us to more effectively respond to your customer service requests and support needs)
To process transactions. Your information, whether public or private, will not be sold, exchanged, transferred, or given to any other company for any reason whatsoever, without your consent, other than for the express purpose of delivering the purchased product or service requested.
To send periodic emails: The email address you provide for order processing, will only be used to send you information and updates pertaining to your order. If you decide to opt-in to our mailing list, you will receive emails that may include company news, updates, related product or service information, etc.
Note: If at any time you would like to unsubscribe from receiving future emails, simply click on the unsubscribe options at the bottom of every email.

How do we protect your information?

We implement a variety of security measures to maintain the safety of your personal information when you place an order or access your personal information. We offer the use of a secure server. All supplied sensitive/credit information is transmitted via Secure Socket Layer (SSL) technology and then encrypted into our Payment gateway providers database only to be accessible by those authorized with special access rights to such systems, and are required to keep the information confidential. After a transaction, your private information (credit cards, social security numbers, financials, etc.) will not be stored on our servers.

Do we use cookies?

Yes (Cookies are small files that a site or its service provider transfers to your computers hard drive through your Web browser (if you allow) that enables the sites or service providers systems to recognize your browser and capture and remember certain information. We use cookies to help us remember and process the items in your shopping cart, understand and save your preferences for future visits and compile aggregate data about site traffic and site interaction so that we can offer better site experiences and tools in the future. If you prefer, you can choose to have your computer warn you each time a cookie is being sent, or you can choose to turn off all cookies via your browser settings. Like most websites, if you turn your cookies off, some of our services may not function properly. However, you can still place orders over the telephone.

Do we disclose any information to outside parties?

We do not sell, trade, or otherwise transfer to outside parties your personally identifiable information. This does not include trusted third parties who assist us in operating our website, conducting our business, or servicing you, so long as those parties agree to keep this information confidential. We may also release your information when we believe release is appropriate to comply with the law, enforce our site policies, or protect ours or others rights, property, or safety. However, non-personally identifiable visitor information may be provided to other parties for marketing, advertising, or other uses.

Third party links

Occasionally, at our discretion, we may include or offer third party products or services on our website. These third party sites have separate and independent privacy policies. We therefore have no responsibility or liability for the content and activities of these linked sites. Nonetheless, we seek to protect the integrity of our site and welcome any feedback about these sites.

California Online Privacy Protection Act Compliance

Because we value your privacy we have taken the necessary precautions to be in compliance with the California Online Privacy Protection Act. We therefore will not distribute your personal information to outside parties without your consent. As part of the California Online Privacy Protection Act, all users of our site may make any changes to their information at anytime by logging into their control panel and going to the Edit Profile page.

Children's Online Privacy Protection Act Compliance

We are in compliance with the requirements of COPPA (Children's Online Privacy Protection Act), we do not collect any information from anyone under 13 years of age. Our website, products and services are all directed to people who are at least 13 years old or older.

Online Privacy Policy Only

This online privacy policy applies only to information collected through our website and not to information collected offline.

Your Consent

By using our site, you consent to our websites privacy policy (obtained from <http://www.freeprivacypolicy.com>).

Changes to our Privacy Policy

If we decide to change our privacy policy, we will post those changes on this page. This policy was last modified on February 5, 2019.

All images and web site content © John Abbott College Graphic & Web Design department & students, 1999-2020. All rights reserved for published and unpublished works.

John Abbott College Graphic & Web Design department

Contact the GWD department

Name

Email address

Comments

Submit

All images and web site content © John Abbott College Graphic & Web Design department & students, 1999-2020. All rights reserved for published and unpublished works.

Thank-You confirms the email form has successful transmitted the message

John Abbott College Graphic & Web Design department

Thank You

Thank you for reaching out to the Graphic & Web Design department at John Abbott College. We will be in touch as soon as possible.

If you need immediate assistance, please call the John Abbott College main switchboard at (514) 457-6610.

For Admissions inquiries please call (514) 457-6610;5358

All images and web site content © John Abbott College Graphic & Web Design department & students, 1999-2020. All rights reserved for published and unpublished works.

Error screen is displayed when the form is incorrectly filled out

John Abbott College Graphic & Web Design department

Ooops!

Something went wrong! Please go back and complete the form properly.

All images and web site content © John Abbott College Graphic & Web Design department & students, 1999-2020. All rights reserved for published and unpublished works.